A Brief Synopsis

- ① The US May trade deficit widened to USD 55.5bil, a five-month high underscored by import of goods which soared by 3.3% MoM reflecting front loading activities ahead of possible further increase in tariffs on Chinese merchandise, overshadowing rise in exports that rose by 2% MoM. Export increase was underpinned by rising shipments of soybeans, aircraft, passenger cars, capital goods and consumer goods whereas import climbed mainly due to crude oil, autos, capital goods and consumer goods. The trade deficit with Mexico continued to grow by 18.1% MoM, reaching USD 9.6bil while with China grew 12.2% MoM amounting to USD 30.2bil.
- ② The Caixin China Manufacturing PMI indicated clear contraction in June 2019 which posted 49.4, the second lowest reading since June 2016. PMI readings below 50 signal contraction. The manufacturing segment came under pressure as new orders deteriorated on the back of shrinking domestic demand. New export order slide into contractionary territory as weak foreign demand was underpinned by earlier front-loading exports. As a result, it forces companies to reduce headcount further and making fewer purchases of raw material and semi-finished items.
- ③ The headline Jibun Bank Japan Manufacturing PMI recorded 49.3 in June 2019, signalling contraction in the country's manufacturing space. Export sales decreased for the seventh consecutive month, amid lower sales to China. The market also witnessed the fastest drop in new orders since June 2016 contributed by softer demand across both domestic and international markets which led a sharp depletion in backlogs of work, the largest move since Jan 2013. The operating margin remained under pressure as signalled by a reduction in average selling prices charged by manufacturers.
- ④ ASEAN bourses registered positive returns in June 2019, headed by Thailand's Stock Exchange Index (SET) which jumped 6.8% MoM. Others namely Singapore's Straits Times Index (STI), Jakarta Composite Index (JCI), FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI Index (FBMKLCI) and Philippine's Stock Exchange Index (PCOMP) rose by 6.5%, 2.4%, 1.3% and 0.4% MoM respectively.
- ⑤ President Trump surprised the world after his meeting with President Xi Jinping at G20 announcing that US companies can sell to Huawei as long as the transactions do not present a national security problem while the trade negotiations resume. The issue of Huawei would be delayed until the end of the trade talks, with President Trump saying, "We'll have to save that to the very end, we'll have to see." In another words, the ban on Huawei that are of national security stays while the trade negotiation continues.

India: Services PMI's first drop since May18 – The report showed a contraction in business activity as the index fell to 49.4 in Jun19, down from 50.2 in May19 amid prompted by broadly stagnant sales. Most service providers reported accelerating operating expenses associated with higher prices for cosmetics, fuel, gold, meat and vegetables. These cost burdens had pushed companies to impose upward revision on selling prices. Service sector continue to dominate India's economy as the fastest growing sector to date.

New Victim Emerge in Continuous Tit for Tat Trade

Markets across the board were mostly positive in June19 with the exception of India Sensex Index which fell by 0.8%. The biggest gain was attributed to US Dow Jones Industrial Average Index which surged 7.2%, followed by Stock Exchange of Thailand Index rose by 6.8% and the Singapore FTSE Straits Times Index (STI) increased by 6.5%. Meanwhile the China Shanghai Composite Index and Japan Nikkei Index both climbed 6.1% and 3.3% respectively.

The market gone through a loop, back to trade negotiation resumption when President Trump declared a temporary truce on the remaining USD 325bil worth of Chinese good in the G20 meeting in Osaka. Business would likely to reap opportunity during this window period to further ramp up inventories impending further announcement. Huawei also benefited from the meeting when President Trump made unexpected remark to allow the Chinese tech giant to resume buying US products as long as it does not impair the US national security. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) lowered its forecast for China economic growth from 6.3% to 6.2% on 5 June 2019, two months after upgrading it citing uncertainty around trade tension remains high and risks are tilted to the downside.

At the same time, Vietnam was on the limelight when President Trump slapped up to 456% import duties on the country's certain steel products in a move to halt Vietnam to be a key beneficiary. Trump described Vietnam as "almost the single-worst abuser of everybody" when asked if he wanted to impose tariffs on the nation. Vietnam's annual trade surplus with the US has exceeded $20 billion since 2014 and reached $39.5 billion last year, the highest in records going back to 1990, according to US Census Bureau data. More significantly, the growing number of countries coming under tariff fire from the US is likely to further hurt investor sentiment at a time when the global economy is weakening.

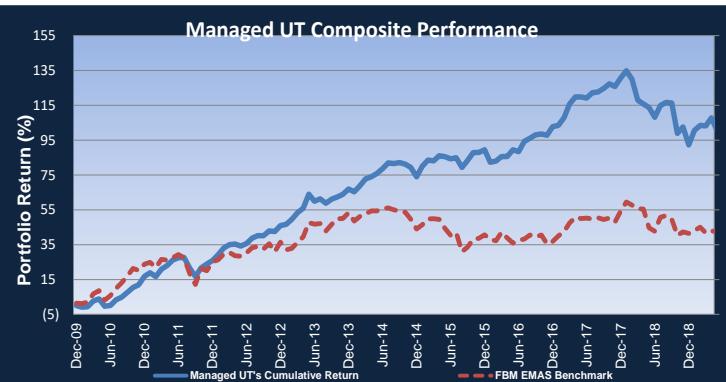

Malaysia investment approvals rose 3.1% yoy to RM53.9bil in 1Q19, with foreign investment approvals surging 73.4% yoy to RM29.3bil to account for 54.4% of total. This was mainly channeled to the manufacturing sector which spiked 126.8% yoy to MYR25.4bil. Strong foreign interest in the manufacturing sector came from the US, China, Singapore, Japan and the British Virgin Islands. Collectively, these five countries contributed RM19.2bil or 95% of total approved foreign investment in the manufacturing sector last quarter. Both Penang and Kedah received the highest manufacturing investment approvals in 1Q19, amounting to RM8.8bil and RM7.6bil respectively.
