Global Highlights

- ⌚ US: US economic growth rate slows to 2% on a sharp slowdown in consumer spending
The US economy grew at a 2% rate in the third quarter after having grown by 6.7% in the previous quarter. This is the slowest gain of the pandemic-era recovery, as supply chain issues and a marked deceleration in consumer spending stunted the expansion.
- ⌚ EU: ECB Holds policy as it sticks to transitory inflation view
European Central Bank (ECB) left its policy settings unchanged, and in the accompanying press release, concluded that "The Governing Council stands ready to adjust all of its instruments, as appropriate, to ensure that inflation stabilises at its two per cent target over the medium term".
- ⌚ China: 3Q21 GDP disappoints, downgrading 2021 growth to 7.9%
China's 3Q21 GDP growth slowed sharply to 4.9% from 7.9% in 2Q21 and was marginally below consensus expectation. The 3Q21 growth rate also matched the same period last year when the economy was recovering from the depth of its pandemic. Overall, the economy grew by 9.8% y-o-y in the first 3 quarters of 2021. The Sep economic data that were released with the 3Q21 GDP showed that the energy crunch was having a larger than expected impact on industrial production while retail sales rebounded with the easing of Covid-19 containment measures. The improvement in private consumption contributed to the recovery in labour market condition as the surveyed jobless rate fell to 4.9% in Sep from 5.1% in the two preceding months. Meanwhile, property investment continued to moderate as the funding stress at local property developers weighed.

Malaysia Highlights

- ⌚ Trade surplus and export values in Sep at new highs
Trade performance in Sep outperformed market expectations, bolstered by 1) a synchronous rally in commodity prices, and 2) resumption in business operations in the country following relaxation of movement restrictions as more states transitioned out of Phase 1 of the National Recovery Plan (NRP) during the month, which will remain well supportive of total trade in 4Q21.
- ⌚ Headline inflation rose to 2.2% y-o-y in Sep 21
Consumer Price Index (CPI) increased 2.2% y-o-y and 0.2% m-o-m in Sep 21, slightly higher than market expectations. The Sep reading also marked an increase from the five-month low of 2.0% y-o-y in Aug 21, driven primarily by dearer food prices such as fresh meat (+7.6% y-o-y and +6.0% m-o-m) and eggs (+8.1% y-o-y and 3.4% m-o-m) due to rising cost of raw feed materials, although prices have levelled off recently while the government is looking into measures to stabilise chicken prices.

Market Performance

- The CSI 300 Index advanced from Sep level with a gain of 0.9% m-o-m. The top 3 sectors by return in Oct were consumer discretionary (led by autos and auto parts, amidst an anticipated sequential production recovery toward year-end), industrials (led by EV/ renewable energy supply chain names driven by the market's rising expectation on China accelerating its clean energy push) and IT (led by renewable energy supply chain and Apple supply chain names and selected semiconductor and virtual reality players. The bottom 3 performers were energy, real estate and utilities, taking a pause after their recent rally/ rebound in Sep and Aug.

- It was a good month for the Dow Jones Index (+5.8% m-o-m) as it posted new closing high in Oct. The overall upward market trend was driven by the continuing positive earnings, even as growth was seen as declining. Helping fuel the Oct surge had been investor interest in transformative technologies.

- It was a bullish start to the 4th quarter, with the Euro Stoxx 50 PR Index (+5.0% m-o-m) resuming its upward trend following Sep's pullback. In spite of a further pick up in inflationary pressure, economic data and monetary policy sentiment continued to deliver support. At the end of the month, the ECB reaffirmed its view on inflation being transitory, delivery the European market with strong support.

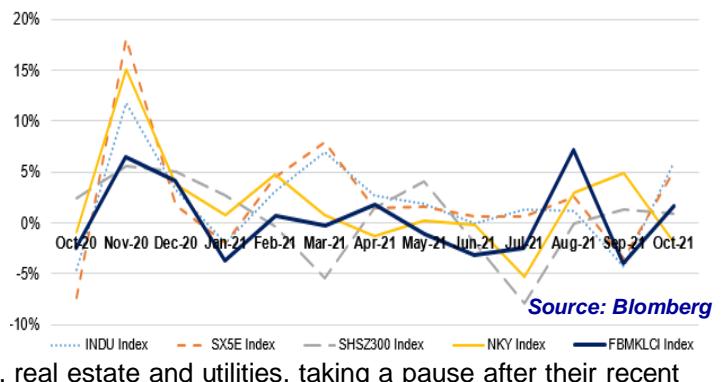

- In the first half of Oct, the declines seen towards end-Sep continued but at a slower pace. The Nikkei 225 fell on eight consecutive days, through 6 Oct, reflecting growing concerns that the rise in crude oil prices would boost inflation, the debt problem at a major Chinese real estate company, and the rise in long-term interest rates and federal debt ceiling problem in the US. However, Japanese equity prices subsequently rebounded when the US Congress passed a bill raising the federal debt ceiling and US long-term interest rates stopped rising, triggering a rebound in US equity prices. Overall, the Nikkei 225 Index declined 1.9% m-o-m.

- The FBMKLCI Index rose 1.6% m-o-m in Oct with the gain driven by net buying by foreign investors on optimism that the Malaysian economy will rebound from Covid-19 impact, following the reopening of its economy. All sectors except healthcare posted gains in Oct. The best-performing sectors in Oct were property, energy and plantation sectors. The top three worst performing sectors in Oct were healthcare, utilities and telecom sectors.

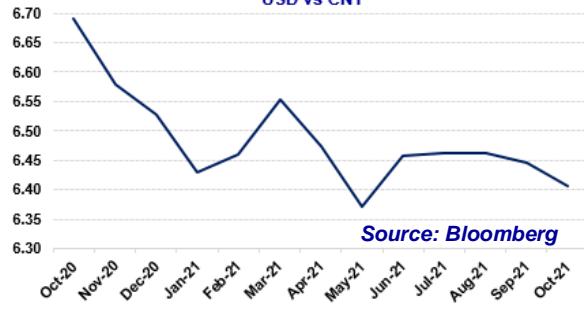

Currency

- USDCNY: Despite China's weaker than expected 3Q21 GDP, supply chain constraints and the ongoing debt and energy crisis, the yuan strengthened near the 6.40 level against the USD in Oct. The appreciation in the CNY was probably attributable to the rising 10-year Chinese government bond.
- USDJPY: JPY continued to depreciate significantly against the USD in Oct, reaching its weakest level since Oct 2018. Following the previous US FOMC meeting, the yen has been heavily pressured by the widening yield spreads of US Treasuries (UST) and Japanese Government Bonds.
- USDMYR: MYR firmed by 1.1% to hit a five-month high due to the positive sentiment surrounding the tabling of the Budget 2022 and higher Brent crude oil price (USD83.7/barrel; Aug: USD74.9/barrel). The ringgit also benefitted from falling USD index, improving domestic Covid-19 trends and the gradual reopening of the domestic economy.

Market Outlook

- There are some beneficiaries for the recently announced Malaysia Budget 2022. More broadly, however, investors are likely to take a negative view on the prosperity tax, which is likely to hurt 2022 earnings for large- and mid-cap stocks and dampen any post-Covid market earnings recovery.
- As Chinese equity investors price in the downward revisions of China's economic outlook, we expect further consolidation in the Chinese markets. Nonetheless, high-end manufacturing (including new energy vehicle supply chain, renewables, etc) still offer structural growth opportunities with policy tailwinds.
- PMIs for October (particularly details about supply chain frictions) and payroll data in US will be keenly watched.

Review

- Performance Overview – Our portfolio rose 2.2%, outperforming the FBMKLCI's return of 1.6%. Meanwhile, most funds within our portfolio recorded positive returns for the month of October 2021.
- Top Performer – Principal Global Titans MYR – Outperformance was driven by the US stock markets that set record highs as earning results from major companies wrapped up their best month and supported by investor confidence.
- Worst Performer – AmTactical Bond B MYR – Underperformance was attributed to the renewed fears of rising inflationary pressure on global economy, which has been brought upon by massive government spending.
- Allocation – There is no change to both moderate and aggressive model portfolios in October. We will continue to monitor the performance of the funds and rebalance the portfolio, when necessary, in line with the market condition.

- Top performer: Manulife Shariah Global REIT MYR
 - The fund invested in multiple REITs i.e. industrial, retail and residential that were expected to benefit from attractive distribution of yields and steady cash flow.
- Worst performer: Eastspring Investments Dinasti Equity – Greater China markets continued to decline over weakening growth exacerbated by power outages and spillover effects from Evergrande woes.
