US: Expect further rate Hike; Senate passed a bill

Strong US jobs data added to the case for more Fed monetary tightening. That has pushed up Treasury yields and dollar. A key part of US bond curve is the most inverted since 2000, suggesting investors foresee a recession ahead of the Fed applies the brakes on the economy. Thus, traders expect greater odds of Fed hike in Sep after a 75bps hike in Jul. Elsewhere, US Senate passed a landmark tax, climate and healthcare bill and is expected to pass in the House subsequently. The bill intended to combat climate change, lower drug prices and raise some corporate taxes, a major victory for President Joe Biden. The minimum corporate tax of 15% on larger firms would affect fewer than 150 companies in a given year. Tech companies such as Alphabet Inc.'s Google and Meta Inc.'s Facebook could face the levy.

EU: ECB raised key interest rates

Inflation continued to grow higher, evidenced by the consumer prices in the euro area that hit 8.9% in Jul, up slightly from last month. Hence, the European Central Bank (ECB) raised its key interest rate by 50bps in Jul, greater than the 25bps hike flagged by the ECB in June to cap spiraling prices. This brings the interest rate on the main refinancing operations, the interest rates on the marginal lending facility, and the deposit facility increased to 0.50%, 0.75% and 0.00%, respectively. Nevertheless, Europe's economy still expanded by 4% y-o-y and 0.6% q-o-q unexpectedly in 2Q2022, according to a preliminary estimate published by the EU statistics office. Despite this, Europe is still in danger of entering recession as it faces the possibility of a severe energy crisis.

China: Trade surplus rose despite a fell in official PMI in July

China's manufacturing activity contracted in Jul after bouncing back from lockdowns the month before, evidenced by official manufacturing purchasing managers index (PMI) that pulled back to 49.0% in Jul from 50.2% in Jun as Beijing's stringent Covid-19 restrictions and a darkening global outlook weighed on demand. Chinese manufacturers continue to struggle with high raw material prices, which are squeezing profit margins. However, China's trade surplus increased as exports expanded faster than anticipated, allaying some worries about declining global demand and supporting an economy dealing with Covid-19 outbreaks and property woes.

Malaysia Highlights

Cost-push and seasonal demand drove June inflation higher to 3.4%

Consumer Price Index (CPI) rose 0.6% m-o-m and 3.4% y-o-y to 127.4 in Jun (May 2022: 126.6 and Jun 2021: 123.2). The food index - led by meat, rice, eggs, and vegetables - increased 1.2% m-o-m and 6.1% y-o-y remained as the main contributor to the rise in inflation in Jun. Meanwhile, other groups that contribute to rise in inflation includes transport (+1.3% m-o-m), restaurant and hotels (+1.3% m-o-m), household appliances (+0.4% m-o-m), recreation services and culture (+0.4% m-o-m), miscellaneous goods and services (+0.4% m-o-m).

June trade value records new high as exports and import trend higher

Trade surplus increased to RM21.9bn in June 2022 (May: RM12.6bn). June exports grew 0.3% m-o-m contributed by rises in index of machinery & transport equipment (+1.4% m-o-m), miscellaneous manufactured articles (+0.4% m-o-m) and chemicals (+0.3% m-o-m). Imports rose 1.7% m-o-m due to increased in index of mineral fuels (+7.4% m-o-m), machinery & transport equipment (+1.2% m-o-m) and miscellaneous manufactured articles (+0.6% m-o-m).

Stock Market Indices Performance

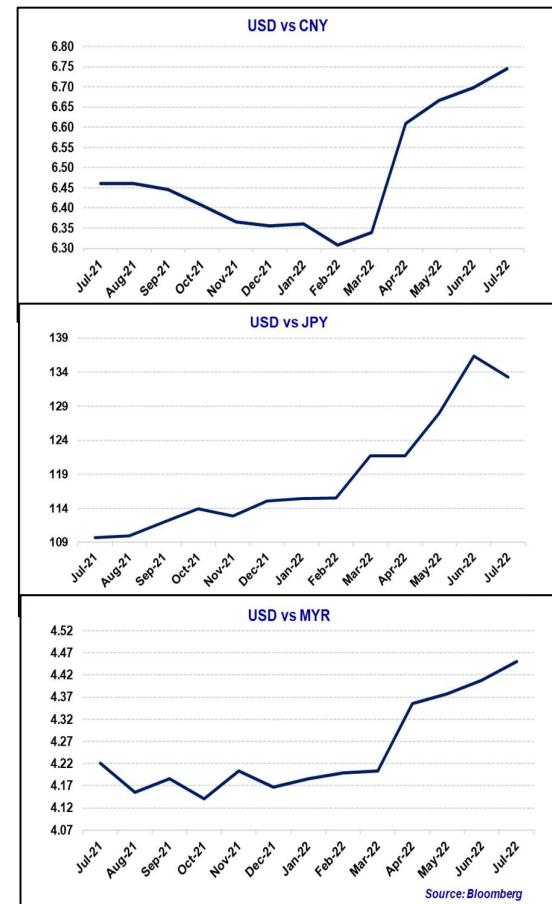

Market Performance

- ⌚ Shanghai Shenzhen CSI300 Index dipped 7.0% dragged by slowing economic growth, rolling lockdown measures as part of China's zero-Covid policy and regulatory issues that weakened investor sentiment. As a result, China's factory activity has also contracted unexpectedly in July after bouncing back from Covid-19 lockdowns the month before. There were also concerns about the property market impacted the real estate sector which returned -19.9% total return over the month. Nevertheless, China's credit growth improved and were able to increase stimulus measures to support the economy.
- ⌚ As anticipated, the Federal Reserve (Fed) hiked interest rates by 75bps to tame inflation after headline inflation in July once again beat expectations, printing 9.1% y-o-y. As a result, US equities rebounded in July with the Dow Jones Index gained 6.7% m-o-m, supported by consumer discretionary and technology companies that were making some of the strongest gains, followed by Energy and Industrials. Defensive sectors such as Health Care and Consumer Staples got lifted as well, up by 3.2% in Jul.
- ⌚ The Euro Stoxx 50 Index saw 7.3% gained m-o-m in Jul driven by double-digit gains of economically sensitive sectors which includes information technology, consumer discretionary and industrials sectors. By contrast, energy, financials and communication services sectors were largely flat. The key issue facing Europe remained gas supply that was worsen when Russia reduces the supply. Thus, the countries were requested to reduce gas consumption by 15%. The increase in food and energy prices has also driven high inflation of 8.9% in Jul and pushed the ECB to increase its key interest rate by 50bps, ending the era of negative rates in eurozone.
- ⌚ Nikkei 225 Index climbed 5.3% despite finished slightly lower end-July, weighed down by stronger yen, mixed domestic earnings releases, and the government downgrading its estimates for Japan's economic growth. Inflation in Japan remains low compared with other developed economies. Bank of Japan also left policy unchanged at its Jul meeting and the interest rate differential with the US therefore widened further.
- ⌚ The FBMKLCI Index edged up 3.3% m-o-m in Jul, supported by persistent buying from foreign funds, in tandem with positive performance among the regional markets as the recent strong US corporate earnings results and bets over milder interest rate hikes overshadowed recession fears. In Jul, Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of Bank Negara Malaysia raised interest rate by another 25bps to 2.25% after the 25bps hike in May to rein in inflation stemming in part from a weaker ringgit as the US Federal Reserve hikes aggressively. It contributed to finance sector being the best performer, followed by plantation. The higher inflow to the plantation sector could be due to the expiring of Indonesia's lifted export levy for palm oil products until end-Aug.

Currency

- ⌚ USDCNY: CNY depreciated for the fifth straight month against the USD in Jul as China's 2Q22 GDP turned out to be weaker-than-expected (actual: 0.4% y-o-y; consensus: 1.0%). Additionally, the yuan was also weighed by China's economic uncertainty due to renewed local Covid-19 lockdowns and property market crisis.
- ⌚ USDJPY: JPY soared towards the end of the month, ending a long-period of sustained weakness. The yen bounced following market concerns of a US recession, leading to lower US Treasury (UST) yields and narrowing yield differentials against Japanese Government Bonds. This comes despite mixed Japanese economic data and weaker market sentiment following the assassination of former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe.
- ⌚ USDMYR: MYR fell to its weakest level in 67 months against a strengthening USD due to the Fed's back-to-back 75bps rate hikes amid a hotter-than-expected Jun US CPI reading. On top of that, the ringgit was also dragged by China's economic uncertainty.

Market Outlook

- The market will also be closely watching the 2Q results season, in particular, how the labour shortage, rising raw material costs, higher minimum wage and supply chain issues affect corporate earnings. Also in focus will be the latest development on 5G deals between telcos and DNB, tourist arrivals figures and progress of the intake of new foreign workers following the lifting of the temporary ban on Indonesia workers to Malaysia on 1 Aug 2022.
- We expect the FBMKLCI to be range-bound with possible downside risk if there are negative surprises from the earnings season. The 2Q22 results seasons have been mixed so far with key negative surprises during the results season so far came from the glove manufacturers while REITS posted better-than-expected earnings.
- Regionally, investors will continue to keep an eye on the Russia-Ukraine war and its impact on commodity prices, global inflation, US 10-year bond yields and global interest rates.
